Three-Sixty Solution's line of customized foam to fabric laminates are proudly manufactured in the USA. Laminates are developed and produced with breathable, stretchable composites that are designed to be in direct contact with the skin surface. Our laminates are manufactured using only the highest quality materials. These include proprietary materials that breathe, wick moisture away from the body and is both latex & adhesive free.

We have extensive experience with foam, technical fabrics and how they interact with the skin and body. This enables us to address issues of effective treatment, patient comfort, body movement and improved cost effectiveness.

Our combined experience in the treatment of medical conditions with our capabilities in engineering, design, materials and advanced manufacturing techniques. The result is a world class leader in the manufacturing of customized Class I and II medical devices and materials.
